Deadlock Over Strike Continues As "Closed Shop" Is Vital Issue; Situation Remains Quiet

Labor Department Declares Strike is Illegal—Livett Gives no Intimation of Cessation of Strike. Town Remains Quiet on Tenth Day of Stoppage of Work.

Nine years of industrial peace abruptly came to an end in Coleman on March 31, when the working agreement between employees of International and McGillivray Coal Companies ended.

Deeds made last year for a closed shop by officials of the United Mine Workers of America, in an effort to compel all employees of the companies to become members of the U.M.W.A., were again renewed this year, which the companies refused. Approximately 130 men, members of Coleman Miners' Association, a home union organized in 1932 to break Communist control of Labor here, refuse to join the U.M.W.A. The companies in an open letter to miners, state:

"We have given due consideration to your expressed views as to the necessity for a "closed shop" agreement, whereby all eligible employees shall be forced to pay dues to the United Mine Workers of America. We feel that the matter of Union affiliation is not within the jurisdiction of the company, but is a matter for individual employees to decide. We will go further and state the Company have in no way restrained your efforts to obtain a full membership, and if you find yourselves unable to do so, then our companies cannot be expected to do the organizing work for you."

The foregoing was addressed to President Robert Livett, District 18, U.M.W.A., on March 27, four days before expiry of the working agreement.

From Ottawa on March 30, a telegram from the deputy assistant minister for Labor, Ottawa, was addressed to President Lorne A. Campbell, head of the coal companies, as follows:

"We have advised district president U.M.W.A. of A. that Labor Department relies on him to prevent any interruption of work, if agreement expires without any agreement being made with company, and that application in such event should be made for Board under Industrial Disputes Investigation Act."

Interviewed by Canadian Press in Calgary on Monday, Mr. Livett stated: "It had not been the policy of the Labor Department to provide boards of conciliation for disputes which did not involve questions of wages. No application for a board of conciliation had been made by the U.M.W.A., and he believed the companies had not applied either. The government may set up a board of conciliation if it is deemed essential, but he had no reason to suppose the department would change its usual policy."

On April 4, Hon. Norman A. McLarry, Federal minister of labor, in a telegram from Ottawa, stated: "I am wiring Mr. Livett, president District 18, U.M.W.A., that strike on your property is illegal and requesting him to have miners return to work at once and have any matter in dispute dealt with in orderly manner under Industrial Disputes Investigation Act."

At this date the deadlock continues. The members of Coleman Miners' Association in a letter issued to the daily Press, among other things, states: "From 1932 to 1939 Coleman enjoyed the most prosperous period in its history.

Strikes were unknown, and conditions in the town were held up as a model by witnesses from other mining camps, when giving evidence before the McGillivray Royal Commission a few years ago. Other mining camps of the district strove to attain the same conditions that prevail in Coleman, where employment was far more regular than at any other camp in the province."

Another point raised by members of Coleman Miners Association in their refusal to join the U.M.W.A. is the following: "It is noted that the erstwhile leader of the Communist party in the Crows Nest Pass turmoil in 1932 is a member of the executive of District 18 of the U.M.W.A., and moreover still retains office on the executive council of the Communist Party of Canada."

Despite the controversy between the two factions, there have been no disturbance with the exception of individual personal quarrels. It appears from present indications that mediation by the Department of Labor will be required to break the deadlock.

On Saturday, April 5, the companies published copies of the correspondence and telegrams relative to negotiations which had been undertaken up to that time, and these were mailed to every employee.

Pickets are still being posted by the U.M.W.A. at the approaches to the McGillivray and International mines.

Companies And Union Again Negotiating

Negotiations were again started between company officials and the U.M.W.A. at 11 a.m. to-day and will continue this afternoon.

The coke ovens are being charged pending further negotiating in the hope a final settlement will be reached.

Bob Livett, Pat Conroy and Angus Morrison arrived here this morning and are taking part in the discussions.

Dan McNaughton Found Dead In Shack on Friday

Had Been Dead 24 Hours Before Being Discovered; Well Known as a Clothing Peddler. Body Shipped to Vancouver Saturday.

An old familiar figure of a man of small stature carrying two heavily loaded grips from door to door in Pass towns will no longer be seen. That familiar figure, Dan McNaughton by name, is dead. He died as he had lived in Coleman, alone.

Discovery of his death was made by Tom Siska of West Coleman, here Friday morning, who, perturbed over the non-appearance of McNaughton for his daily pal of drinking water from the Siska home and the fact that he had not seen the little Scotman for approximately 24 hours, looked through the window of the shack in which McNaughton lived and saw the body on the bed.

Robert Gee, chimney sweep, was awarded the contract to sweep the town hall chimney at a fee of $4.00.

Modern Electric was successful in having the contract to supply the town with all light bulbs renewed for 1941.

Accounts passed: L. Dwarin $10.00

Sam Bannan Appointed Town Solicitor

Will be Given a Retaining Fee of $200 Per Year; Modern Electric Awarded Renewal on Light Bulb Contract.

Regular meeting of the council was held on Tuesday evening. Present Mayor Antrobus, Councilors Abousayar, Balloch, Dutil, Jenkins and Kerr.

Percy Chow, of Calgary, son of C. L. Gooey, local laundryman, appealed to council to aid his ailing uncle, Chow Gooey, who is employed at the B.C. cafe. The Health committee was authorized to investigate and have the medical health officer advise them as to the nature of Chow Gooey's sickness.

It had been decided at the last meeting that a committee interview Sam Bannan, solicitor, to determine what his retaining fee would be to supervise all town legal matters. A letter from Mr. Bannan and a report from the committee chairman were placed before the council for its consideration. Mr. Bannan asked a $200 retaining fee to be paid quarterly. In return he would prepare all by-laws, transfers, agreements and other documents, would give advice to any member of the council pertaining to town matters, would attend all court cases where his services were needed by the town constable and would attend council meetings when required. In regard to really important legal matters a mutual agreement would be entered into between council and Mr. Bannan regarding compensation for the latter's services. After discussion it was decided to engage Mr. Bannan for a one year period.

A letter of thanks was received from the Community hall committee for council's action in canceling his hall's 1941 taxes.

Permission was granted Joe Lipovsk, proprietor of the Coleman hotel, to install a neon sign on his building.

Mike Ferrara asked council's permission to move some buildings from lot six to lot seven on Main street. Works and Property committee was authorized to investigate.

Robert Gee, chimney sweep, was awarded the contract to sweep the town hall chimney at a fee of $4.00.

Modern Electric was successful in having the contract to supply the town with all light bulbs renewed for 1941.

Accounts passed: L. Dwarin $10.00

Air Force Band to be Featured at Music Festival

Will Represent Macleod Station; Calgary Band Will be Featured in Piano Accordion Class.

A band from the Royal Canadian Air Force will be featured for the first time in the history of the Crows Nest Pass musical festival, on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, April 28-29-30. The band from the Macleod airport and information received here is that the band members are practicing daily in order to give a good account of themselves.

Another top-notch attraction will be the piano accordion band from Calgary. This band is of very high standard and will compete in a class which was only included this year for the first time. It is possible a number of the members will compete in the solo class of the piano accordion. In the latter class Coleman is expected to have strong representation as a number of youths are really good with this instrument.

Jim Cousins will have his students ready and waiting and enough is known of Jim's ability as a music teacher to know his students will give a good account of themselves and bring back a number of honors to Coleman.

Due to Mr. Harry Stobbs, secretary, having to leave for Mission, B.C. shortly, his festival duties have been taken over by Mrs. J. H. Farmer, of Blairstown, and all correspondence should be addressed to her.

Companies Came Through With Handsome Donations; Jim McKay Gave Largest Private Donation

Coleman Quota Was $500; Chairman Sullivan Highly Pleased With Splendid Response; Has Praise for Canvassers

Coleman was given a quota of $500 by the Alberta committee of the Canadian War Services Campaign. The committee evidently did not fully realize the spirit of the Coleman citizens in their desire to further Canada's war effort as they poured $1767.50 into the coffers of the local committee. This money will be forwarded to headquarters.

There are still several houses yet to be solicited and it is quite possible the $1767.50 may reach the $1800 mark.

The coal companies came through with flying colors, McGillivray Creek and International donating a total of $250.00. Jim McKay of Sentinel power plant gained the honor of donating the highest amount received from any individual, his cheque for $100 having been recorded in an earlier issue.

The amount was made up as follows: Mines, $818.00; Power plant and lime kiln, $145.00; Companies, $250.00; Business section, contractors, school teachers, etc., $479.50; Lions Club, $25.00.

Chairman L. Sullivan is elated with the splendid response given the campaign by local citizens.

To triple the quota given Coleman is a feat to be most proud of. Remarking on the success of the campaign he praised the canvassers for their work and gave them credit for boosting the subscription to such a magnificent sum.

Funeral of Charles Saad Held on Friday

Came to Coleman in 1923; Died in Miners' Hospital after Lingering Illness.

The death occurred, March 30, in Coleman Miners' hospital of Charles Saad, aged 54 years, Death came after a lingering illness.

Decedent came from Toronto to Alberta in 1907 and in 1923 came to Coleman. He left Coleman some years later and returned three years ago. Surviving are his wife, two sons, Joseph and Ronald, and a daughter, Margaret.

The funeral was held on Friday morning, the body being taken from the Crows Nest Undertaking parlor to Holy Ghost church where Rev. Father Leo Sullivan conducted the funeral service. Interment was made in the Catholic cemetery. Pallbearers were S. Janostak, J. P. Burns, J. Coccione, F. Abuassyaf, G. Byden and A. McConnell.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. Charles Saad and family wish to thank their many friends and relatives for their kind expressions of sympathy, floral offerings, sympathy and mass cards. Special thanks to Dr. C. Rose and hospital staff for their kind attention to our husband and father during his stay in the hospital.

New Jail Being Built At Town Hall

Work Being Done By John Nitikuk And Ernie Beart; To House Two Cells.

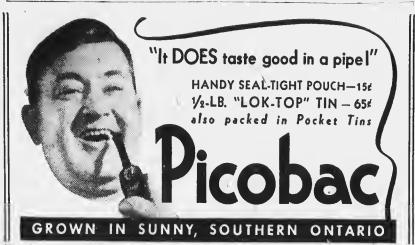

Council has authorized the building of a new jail to replace the cell at present located in the basement of the town hall. Work commenced on Monday when a floor of concrete was laid. The new building will be a lean-to connected with the constable's office. It will measure 12' x 12'. The cells will be 4' x 7'.

Town foreman John Nitikuk and Ernie Beart will construct the building, Mr. Beart being a carpenter by trade.

RED CROSS MEETING

A general meeting will be held in the council chamber at 8 p.m. Monday, April 14.

Miss Audrey Halliwell, who for the past few months has been on the staff at the Bank of Commerce, Toronto, has been transferred to the Calgary branch. She is vacating for a few days at her home here before taking up her new duties at Calgary.

A Morale Restorative

Whatever may be the ultimate outcome of the revolt of the people of Yugoslavia against the betrayal of their country by their erstwhile rulers, it is one of the most significant events that has so far occurred in the progress of the war on the European continent, and even if it does not prevent that country from eventually being gobbled up by the Nazi hordes it will have a long-range and far-reaching effect on the course of the conflict and possibly upon its duration.

The immediate practical effect of the unexpected turn of events in Yugoslavia, of course, is to have put a very bad crimp in Adolf Hitler's plans. It has slowed up his triumphal march to the southeast at a time when rapid movement was a vital necessity to the success of his major objective, the campaign to defeat Britain, before Italy can be knocked out and before material assistance from the United States turns the scales definitely against the Axis powers.

But the blow which Hitler has received at the hands of the common people of Yugoslavia can be calculated to have an even more important effect in the bolstering of morale which it will furnish for the people of those countries which have been brought under the Nazi yoke and who are now looking around agonizingly for some sign that the fitters which bind them will eventually be knocked off.

Further, the magnificent example of the action of the Serbs will do much to encourage the people of other countries, not yet under the Nazi yoke, whose rulers Hitler might expect to use as pawns in his game of conquest by subversive methods, followed by display of mechanized military might.

It is possible that history may eventually show that the stiffened resistance to Nazi demands put up by the populace of Yugoslavia proved to be the turning point in the war on the continent of Europe, not only because of its immediate result, but because of its effect on the later course of the war.

Waiting For The Day

Out of the thick pall of murk which overhangs the gloom of Nazi-riden Europe, sufficient evidence is trickling through to demonstrate beyond doubt that millions of the subjugated peoples are anxiously awaiting the moment when from within, they can give effective help to their deliverers from without.

In every one of these subjugated countries millions are playing the game of passive resistance to the decrees and the policies of the hated conqueror. Some of the more daring are engaging in overt acts of sabotage, whenever and wherever an opportunity is afforded. In most of these countries secret and skilfully hidden radio transmitters are keeping the people informed of what is going on beyond their own narrow boundaries. As a result Hitler is forced to keep large standing armies on guard in every one of the countries that he has added to his collection in the past 18 months, reducing equipment and personnel available for his programs of further expansion and for carrying on his war against Britain. Even in those countries where the particularly harsh treatment as has been meted out to the Poles has been modified, the sufferings of the people have been and are sufficiently severe to make them "non-co-operative." Half-starved, while their conquerors live on the best that is available; robbed of all liberty and privileges, millions of these people are too proud to bow in submission and only await the propitious moment to arise once more and assert themselves.

Spirit Is There

A few incidents related in the Continental press illustrate the spirit abroad in the conquered countries. Three thousand people, many of them from afar, attended the funeral of a Norwegian sailor who was killed by the bayonet of a German soldier when he resented remarks made by the soldier while the Norwegian was walking with a girl of his own nationality in the town park of Molde.

A Dutchman was sentenced to three years when he seriously injured a German soldier in a cafe by throwing a beer glass at him. Three young Dutchmen were sentenced to 17 months imprisonment for expressing their enmity to the German forces by taking the caps of German officers from a restaurant cloakroom and tearing them to pieces. "Certainly a mild sentence for this great insult," declared the German court.

In Brussels, Belgium, when Germans board trains all the other passengers slept. The cinemas which show German news reels are empty.

In spite of tremendous privations and persecutions, Polish resistance is growing. In Kalisz, a Polish technician was imprisoned for publicly talking of damage by R.A.F. raids on Berlin. In Lodz, a 17-year-old boy was sentenced to ten years imprisonment on the charge of insulting a German official. In Dortmund, a special tribunal sentenced a Pole to death who had left his work in Germany and resisted arrest. In a village near Magdeburg, Germany, three German women were sentenced to 18 months imprisonment for giving food and cigarettes to Polish prisoners of war.

Incidents of these kind could be multiplied by hundreds and by thousands, if only all the information were available. It demonstrates the spirit that is abroad among these people, and the heartening effect upon them and the stimulus it will give to continued resistance as the news of the Yugoslav revolt penetrates to the innermost corners can scarcely be over-emphasized.

Irrigation Project

Study Plans For Additional Work In Southern Alberta

Appointment of federal and provincial committees to study the possibility of constructing a large number of additional irrigation works and providing water for about twice the area now under irrigation in southern Alberta was announced by Agriculture Minister MacMillan.

Among the projects to be studied by the committee, Mr. MacMillan said, is a plan for the best use of the waters of the parts of the St. Mary's and Milk rivers running through Alberta.

Loose Thinking

Careless Talk That Does Not Aid The War Effort

Ah, well, say the end-of-everything school, what is the use of worrying? Everybody is going broke, anyway. We might as well spend while we have the money. If this school prevails we certainly shall go broke, and it will not be the rich who will suffer chiefly. It will be the great middle class, the vast majority of Canadians, the four million men and women who have savings in the bank, the three and a half millions who have life insurance policies.

They will be the chief victims of this end-of-everything theory, for that theory, if it captures our governments, will surely mean the end of savings of fixed incomes, of life insurance. But it need not be the end of everything if we keep our heads and tighten our belts.—Vancouver Sun.

Had Grandstand View

British Seaman Describes Destruction Of Two German Subs

Destruction of two German U-boats, a phase of the war seldom mentioned in official dispatches, was described by a merchant seaman, who said he had a grandstand view and that it was the "most thrilling experience of my life."

The dispatch indicated that the seaman was in a convoy attacked at night by a pack of U-boats.

Worships, with "hunt" signals flapping from their yardsails, charged into the attack, throwing out depth charges, the seaman said.

"Star shells and Very lights illuminated the sky. Signals swept the water. There was a series of dull explosions as the depth charges went off. Great columns of water hurled up.

"The water scarcely had settled back before the first U-boat broke the surface. It was badly battered, and as I watched, it split up and slipped back into the oily sea."

More depth charges splashed into the sea, the seaman said, and soon the ocean trembled with muffled explosions. Then the second U-boat jerked into view.

"When she broke the surface the warships' guns let go a salvo and the U-boat was blown to pieces before my eyes," the seaman said.

Like Canada

Australian Flyers Find Weather Here Invigorating

Romance has come to a number of Australians who have journeyed thousands of miles to attend advanced flying schools in Canada under the British Commonwealth Air Training plan.

"Your winter has not only been most invigorating and the hospitality of your people magnificent, but some of our young men have also found romance in your country," said Air Vice-Marshal S. J. Goble, chief of the Australian air mission, who has just completed a tour of schools where Australians are being trained.

Regulations do not permit a cadet to marry while he is undergoing training, but the air vice-marshal said that once the course was completed applications for marriage would be considered "and no doubt granted."

Although most of the Australian airmen have come to Canada from a climate approaching sub-tropical they weathered the rigors of their first Canadian winter without minimum of illness.

Risky For Submarines

Icebergs Likely To Keep U-Boats Longer On The Surface

In extreme northern waters icebergs abound in the late spring and early summer, states Arthur Brock in the New York Times. They constitute an especial risk for submarine craft, since a great part of their bulk is below the surface. This, it is believed, will keep the submarines on the surface of the ocean more often and for longer periods than suits their purpose. The distance from their quarry at which aircraft can detect them and the long span of daylight in those latitudes, offset to some extent the protection of darkness. These are the catches for the submarines.

China Still Goes Ahead

Engineers Begin Surveys For Highway Across Mountains To India

The Sault Daily Star says: There is no keeping China down. A group of Chinese engineers has left Chungking for southern Sikang Province to begin surveys for a highway from Ningyuan across Tibet and across some of the highest mountains in the world to Sadiya, Assam, India. If constructed, the 1,000-mile highway would open a new back door to China and connect the upper Yangtze River with a railway running northward in India in Chitagon. The route would cross mountains 20,000 feet high and the construction would be one of the most daring and difficult highway jobs ever undertaken.

Safeguard His Fortune

A German industrial whom the Nazis didn't catch off third base is Fritz von Opel, the motor magnate, who, when he sold out his German works to General Motors in 1929 at peak, had the $8,000,000 placed to his credit in the U.S. Came the war and he scammed here to join it, leaving no fortune behind for the Nazi masters to seize.

A wife is a creature who snatches a minute between cleaning up the dishes, the house and the children to skim through an article on "Should Married Women Work?"

Idea Not Very Popular

Many Americans Think Food For France Will Benefit Germany

Apparently a tentative agreement has been reached between the United States and Great Britain to permit American food to go to un-occupied France. The food will be shipped in French ships and will be distributed under the direction of the American Red Cross. The Vichy Government will be asked to give strict guarantees that none of the food will be diverted elsewhere.

Many Americans will regret that this country is to undertake feeding of France. No matter what safeguards are imposed and no matter how strict the supervision, Hitler will be asked to give strict guarantees that none of the food will be diverted elsewhere.

Fortunately the venture is in the nature of an experiment. Even many of those who advocate it frankly admit their misgivings and say that their future course will be guided by how this first attempt works out.

In other words, our policy and that of Great Britain with respect to feeding France is still uncertain. That will be determined later.

We would like greatly to see the United States adhere to the course that it is our duty to feed all the peoples that Hitler has enslaved. That certainly would be playing into the hands of the Germans with a vengeance.

Hitler has announced that any ships carrying food to England, whether they be American ships, will not be promptly sunk. In the face of this we ship food into territory controlled by the Germans and ask the British to permit those ships to be given safe passage.

Great Britain has been reluctant to yield on this matter. She yields now, undoubtedly, because of American pressure and against her own better judgment. Now that the decision appears to have been made, in this country whose position has been similar to that of the British will yield too, but we do so with reservations and in the hope that if the result of the experiment justifies our fears it will not be continued.—Watertown, N.Y., Daily Times.

Regulations do not permit a cadet to marry while he is undergoing training, but the air vice-marshal said that once the course was completed applications for marriage would be considered "and no doubt granted."

Although most of the Australian airmen have come to Canada from a climate approaching sub-tropical they weathered the rigors of their first Canadian winter without minimum of illness.

If your dinner's "in a stew" just top it off with bran dumplings and you'll do no "swiving" about the substance of your meal. The new version of an old favorite, it is the answer to every cook's ambition—dumplings, which are light, digestible and appetizing!

You don't have to be a master-cook to make these dumplings turn out perfectly. The secret is in the recipe, and even a budge may follow these directions and win compliments for dumplings as good as any mother used to make! Try them for the family, and remember the one general rule for cooking. If your stew is very liquid, remove some of the liquid (keeping it hot) before cooking the dumplings. Your stew should be "meaty" enough to keep the dumpling up while it is cooking.

Bran Dumplings

1½ cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 cup milk
1 tablespoon melted shortening
½ cup All-Bran
¾ cup milk

Sift flour, salt and baking powder together. Beat egg until light, add melted and cooled shortening. Add bran and milk. Sift dry ingredients and stir only until flour disappears. Drop batter by heaping teaspoonsful on top of hot meat stew; cover tightly and let simmer for 20 minutes without removing cover. Serve hot. Yield: 8 dumplings.

CROWN BRAND CAKE

1¼ cup shortening
½ cup white sugar
1 cup sifted cake flour
½ cup Crown Brand Corn Syrup
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups pastry flour
½ cup shortening
1½ teaspoons baking powder
½ cup milk
½ cup chopped nuts
½ cup seedless raisins, cut fine

Method: Cream shortening and sugar until light; add well-beaten egg, corn syrup and vanilla; blend thoroughly. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk. Add nuts and raisins. Pour into pan 8" x 12" lined with waxed paper and oiled with Mazola. Bake in moderate oven. Temperature: 350 degrees F. Time: 45 minutes.

Nazis Cannot Control Thoughts

The Dutch have been told, in just so many words, that even to think bad thoughts of their German conquerors would be done at the risk of death. This is where the Nazis make their grossest miscalculation. They cannot—by the sword—destroy the intellect or subdue the spirit of those whom they oppress. And this will prove their undoing.—The Argonaut.

Men sneeze more readily than women, says Dr. M. W. Jenison of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Dive To Victory

Story Of A British Pilot Attacked By Four Nazi Planes

A spectacular three-mile "dive to victory" by the pilot of a Royal Air Force Spitfire, attacked by four German Messerschmitt 109's 20,000 feet above the sea, was described by the British air ministry.

The ministry said the British pilot eluded the Germans' concentrated assault, put his nose down and "went into a dive of such velocity that the transparent cover of the cockpit was torn off and the goggles whipped off his face."

At 4,000 feet above the English Channel waters, he pulled out of his dive and saw a German plane which had been pursuing him hurtle past out of control and plunge into the sea.

War Services Campaign

Elevator Agents In Saskatchewan Solicting Donations Of Wheat

The Canadian War Services Fund has enlisted as workers the 3,200 elevator agents in Saskatchewan. If on an average 100 bushels of wheat are donated by the growers at each elevator, it would mean that 300,000 bushels would be contributed by the farmers of this province. Every wheat grower in Saskatchewan will be canvassed by the elevator men, and it is confidently expected that the objective will not only be reached, but greatly exceeded. The province of Saskatchewan has undertaken to raise the sum of $263,000 in support of the fund, and if everyone in both urban and rural sections will do their part there is every reason to expect that the campaign will go over the top. If we are to maintain for ourselves and our posterity the freedom which we now enjoy, we must be prepared to make every sacrifice for its preservation.

Passive Resistance

Workers in Amsterdam are not proving to be at all tractable to their Nazi masters; they remain home for days at a stretch, causing factories and public services to close. Hitler may find it difficult to overcome this passive resistance.

Made Successful Glide

His engine failing over northern France a Spitfire pilot glided his plane 80 miles to his airdrome in southern England—he just made it.

British Troops Are Fighting On New Balkan Battle Front

London.—It is revealed officially that British troops are fighting side by side with Greek defenders on the new Balkan battlefront.

A communiqué issued in London says the expeditionary force is made up of veterans of the African war fronts from Britain, New Zealand and Australia. It is understood they are under the personal command of General Sir Archibald Wavell, who directed the blitzkrieg clean-up of Italy's colonial empire.

The British units have been in Greece since the Germans took over Bulgaria. No mention is made of British forces in Yugoslavia. However, it is known that Britain and the United States made plans to supply aid to Yugoslavia even before the German invasion.

Neither it is revealed how many men Britain has sent into the new war zone. Various estimates range from 50,000 to 300,000. By its use of the word "army" the British communiqué does, however, indicate that the British expeditionary force is a formidable one.

Belief is that the British were landed at strategic points in Greece and moved swiftly up to the northern frontier, about 60 miles above Salonika.

During the weeks that the army has been in Greece, General Wavell and his aides have been quietly but steadily preparing positions and working out plans for joint operations with the Greeks.

Meanwhile, the authoritative British Press Association reveals that the Royal Air Force in Greece is all set for the major action. The R.A.F. has been reinforced and, says the Press association, is ally in defense of their native soil."

The statement, issued by the ministry of information, said the army was sent to Greece "in readiness for this long threatened German invasion of the Balkans" ready to spring from Greek bases and sweep the Germans from the skies.

Coinciding with the British revelation of an expeditionary force in Greece is a thinly-veiled warning by a high-ranking official that Germany and Russia might clash because of the Balkan drive. As Herbert Morrison, minister of home security in the English cabinet, puts it:

"I believe in the Balkans Hitler may meet someone he doesn't wish to meet."

Kept In Detention

Former Premier Of Yugoslavia Is In British Hands

London.—Richard Butler, under-secretary for foreign affairs, informed the House of Commons that Milan Stoyadinovic, pro-Nazi former premier of Yugoslavia, had been admitted to British territory.

The under-secretary said that on March 15 the former Yugoslav government advised the British authorities he was going expelled and requested that they admit him and "keep him there."

"Mr. Stoyadinovic is now, therefore, in British hands and will be kept in detention in British territory," he said.

Army Of The Nile Withdraws From Bengasi, Libyan Port

Cairo.—British general headquarters announced that the army of the Nile had withdrawn from Bengasi, important Libyan seaport, but had inflicted "considerable casualties on personnel and tanks" of Axis mechanized forces.

A headquarters' communiqué said that "in pursuance of the policy so successfully adopted at Sidi Barrani of waiting to choose our own battleground, our light covering detachments have been withdrawn to selected concentration areas."

In the course of this withdrawal, the communiqué said, Bengasi was evacuated after all captured military stores and equipment had been destroyed.

"Bengasi is indefensible from a military point of view," the communiqué added, "and it has not been used by us as a port."

The communiqué added that as in the autumn of last year "the enemy is evidently seeking propaganda suc-

For Military Training

Second Call Goes Out Under Four Months' Plan

Ottawa.—Divisional registrars across Canada have been instructed to notify 5,000 single men and childless widowers in the 21-year-old class to report April 17 for four months' compulsory training, the department of national war services announced.

Ninety per cent. of the men must be in medical category "A," and the other 10 per cent. in categories "B-1" and "B-2."

The call is the second under the four-month training plan. The first group of about the same number of men entered camp March 20.

Three 30-day training periods were held under the original regulations.

The 5,000 men to be called April 17 will be divided as follows: Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, 285; New Brunswick, 200; Quebec, 1,540; Ontario, 1,450; Manitoba, 390; Saskatchewan, 465; Alberta, 355; and British Columbia, 285.

Regulations under which the call is made, according to a proclamation issued last Feb. 24, apply to "every male British subject who is or has been at any time subsequent to the first day of September, 1939, ordinarily resident in Canada and who attained or will attain the age of 21 years on or after the first day of July, 1940, unmarried or a widow without child or children."

The help which is coming from Canada, other parts of the Empire and the United States will ultimately weigh the scales in our favor," Mr. MacDonald said.

Canadians, the high commissioner said, had shown they were people not only enjoying the rights and privileges of sovereignty, but also that they were prepared to pay the stern duties that war demanded.

Before his departure for the Dominion, Mr. MacDonald said he had been privileged to visit Canada's soldiers, sailors and airmen on active service in the United Kingdom.

"I was amazed to find our men so well equipped. Their spirit, appearance and eagerness impressed me enormously."

The steady expansion of her war effort had thrown a great strain on Canada and had involved constant negotiations between the two governments. These negotiations had always been met in a spirit of practical, complete and generous co-operation.

"These things are good, but should give us no reason for complacency for the forces of evil arrayed against us are powerful. We must reckon that Germany will intensify her attacks, which means we must go on ceaselessly expanding and strengthening our resources."

Launched Recruiting Drive

Australia Anxious To Keep Divisions Overseas Fully Reinforced

Sydney, Australia.—Army Minister Percy Spender launched a recruiting drive for the Australian Imperial Force, declaring that for the duration of the war it would be an "imperative task" to keep the Australian divisions overseas reinforced.

He said although recruiting recently had been limited to unmarried men and married men without children, the authorities now will accept married men with small families.

Situation Has Changed

Chungking.—China's military crisis is over, Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek told the eighth plenary session of the central executive committee of Kuomintang, China's highest political body. Japan has been unable to conquer China by force of arms, Kai-Shek said, and the situation in China now becomes one of economic warfare.

RECEIVES NEW COMMAND

Brigadier F. F. Worthington

Brigadier F. F. Worthington, officer commanding the First Canadian Armored Brigade, was named to command the First Canadian Tank Brigade.

Young Spitfire Pilot

Air Ace Receives Three Decorations At One Investiture

London.—One of England's aces of the second Great War, Pilot Officer Eric Lock, was presented with three decorations in a recent investiture at Buckingham palace, it was disclosed.

When a 21-year-old Spitfire pilot with 22 confirmed and nine probable enemy aircraft to his credit received the Distinguished Service Order, the Distinguished Flying Cross, and the Bar to the latter from His Majesty, it was believed to be only the second time in history that an aviator had been three times decorated at the same investiture.

The first time was when King George V pinned the Victoria Cross, the Military Cross and the Distinguished Service Order on Canada's Billy Bishop, leading air ace of 1914-18.

Pilot Officer Lock, the youngest officer in this war to win the D.S.O., limped to the dais to accept the awards and then returned to the hospital where he has been three months recovering from 15 leg wounds as a result of an engagement with a German Messerschmitt.

Pretty Czechoslovakian Skater May Enter The States

Vancouver.—Vera Hruba, pretty Czechoslovakian skating star who was deluged with proposals after United States authorities said she would have to marry to remain in the country, will go back to the land of her adoption $20,000 richer.

P. R. Josseyn, American consul-general here, told the skater that she had been granted a quota number and may enter and remain in the United States.

At the same time Miss Hruba, who has been performing here at an ice show, pending straightening out of her status by U.S. authorities, said she had been left $20,000 by Mrs. Nan Foley, of Lafayette, Ind., who died recently.

Miss Hruba said she had never met Mrs. Foley but that the Indiana woman had seen her perform and heard of her threatened deportation to Nazi-dominated Czechoslovakia.

Senate Adjourns

Ottawa.—The Senate adjourned until May 13 after Sir Lyman Duff, acting for the governor-general, gave royal assent to nine bills, including the $1,300,000,000 war expenditure measure.

FREE NORSEMAN WELCOMED BY HIS KING

King Haakon of Norway is shown chatting with one of his subjects rescued by the British raiding party that invaded the Nazi-held Lofoten Islands recently. In addition to Nazi prisoners the British raiders took off scores of Norwegians who wanted to join the Free Norwegians in exile. This man is now in a Norse naval unit with the British fleet.

Canada Sets Up New Company To Build Merchant Ships

Ottawa.—Setting up of a government-owned company, headed by H. R. MacMillan, of Vancouver, to concentrate on expanding shipbuilding in Canada was announced to The Canadian Press by Munitions Minister Howe. The new company will form part of the munitions department organization.

carrying out the merchant shipbuilding program."

Later he told the house that "we are exceedingly anxious to make this program of merchant shipbuilding the largest that Canada can possibly execute."

Mr. Howe told the Canadian Press the new company would devote itself entirely to merchant shipbuilding. The building of corvettes, destroyers and all other naval construction, as well as ship repair work, will still be under D. B. Carswell, director general of naval construction.

The new company will seek to develop and speed up shipbuilding on both coasts and along the St. Lawrence and the production from factories which turn out the steel which goes into the construction of the ships, the boilers, engines and equipment.

The call of Great Britain for ships and more ships was followed by urgencies in both Senate and the House of Commons by members from all parts of Canada for a greater response by the Dominion to this appeal.

Mr. Howe said a merchant ship cost about $1,500,000 to construct. For the immediate future, Mr. Howe said the policy would be to build for cargo ships and it is hoped the cargo ship industry will be greatly developed."

The minister could not estimate how much expansion would be possible but it was being studied. In the House of Commons Mr. Howe said: "We are placing the merchant shipbuilding in separate and I think most capable hands. I hope to be able to report in a day or two to honorable members the whole organization for new yards.

People Are Grateful

Lord Mayor Of London Expresses Thanks For Canada's Help

London.—The gratitude of humble people who lost everything in the bombing of London was expressed to the people of Canada by Sir George Wilkinson, lord mayor of London, for generous donations of money and clothing and letters of encouragement "which have come from even the remotest sections of the Dominion."

Italian Plane Losses

London.—The British air ministry reports that 173 Italian planes were destroyed in the Middle East during March. According to the British, 125 were shot down, 21 by anti-aircraft fire. The rest were destroyed on the ground.

"For the navy it is raining over all the oceans in the world."

Escort Vessels Needed

Britain Anxious To Have More Protection For Convoy

London.—Lt.-Cmdr. Reginald Fletcher, parliamentary private secretary to A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, said in a talk quoted by the British Broadcasting Corporation that the present scale of Allied shipping losses is "not high enough for Hitler to achieve victory in 1941."

"He can only win by obtaining mastery in the Atlantic."

Commenting on the amount of protection given convoys, he said "some people believe that finding escort vessels is like calling taxis. We all know how easy it is to get a taxi on a fine day but when it's wet we have to wait a long time."

"For the navy it is raining over

Count Paul Teleki, Premier Of Hungary, Takes His Own Life

Budapest.—Count Paul Teleki, and Germany mourns the loss of a great friend."

Teleki called himself a tightrope walker in describing his activities on one occasion.

"Two years ago he said he hoped never to live to see Hungary go to war against Britain or the United States."

Only now can it be disclosed that Teleki was one of those behind the book "Why Germany Cannot Win the War," which broke all sales records in Hungary.

Teleki told the author, Ivan Lajos, that he intended to ban the book—after it had sold 100,000 copies. He added that he would ban it if that unless a copy was put in the hands of every Hungarian army officer.

Count Teleki, born in 1879, was a professor of geography at Budapest University before entering politics at the close of the first Great War.

He became minister of social affairs in 1918 and minister of peace negotiations the next year, in which capacity he helped to formulate the peace settlement.

Count Istvan Csaky, who as foreign minister helped arrange the Axis and Yugoslav agreements, died only last Jan. 27 at the age of 46 of an illness officially attributed to food poisoning. He was stricken as he returned from concluding the Yugoslav pact.

Csaky's successor, Foreign Minister Dr. Laszlo de Bardossy, was designated as premier to form a government succeeding that of Teleki, which resigned when Teleki's death became known.

(The German radio said Teleki's death was a great loss to Hungary. The party was banned as a menace to public safety.)

NOTES AND COMMENTS

THE FREEDOM OF THE PRESS

Editorial No. 2

TREAT men of history who have left us the legacy of democratic government all seem to have been of one mind, that the preservation of freedom depended to a large degree on the preservation of the freedom of the press. That is why in all truly democratic states a free press is more than just a tradition—it is an essential principle of democracy.

One of the prerequisites of an autocracy is the abrogation of the freedom of the press, because this freedom has essentially, through the centuries, shown itself to be the one great force which has seen to it that freedom of the individual has been preserved. When freedom of the press is abolished, other freedoms go with it. There is little need at this time to stress that point. There are so many poignant and tragic examples in the world today of a subservient press, that it must be obvious to any intelligent person that the freedom of the press is synonymous with the freedom which is democracy.

There have always been those, who, often for reasons of personal aggrandizement or lust for power, would rob the press of this precious jewel in the crown of liberty. There have been others who cry out for personal freedom of expression, but who would deny this right to the press. It has been claimed that this freedom can become license, but this is one of those half-truths which unthinking people are likely to accept at its face value.

Actually the press enjoys a freedom which gives it no privilege above the individual. It must conform to the laws of the state. It certainly offers no greater opportunity for defaming any person or institution, than does the inherent right of free speech with which every citizen is endowed as a birthright. Abraham Lincoln in a debate on the constitution once said: "The liberty of the press is the tyrant's scourge; it is the true friend and the supremest supporter of civil liberty." The principle of freedom of the press, as it exists today, is the result of a long bitter struggle between those who believed in civil rights and constituted authority, and those who feared the exercise of these rights.

It is significant that the first amendment to the Bill of Rights of the American Constitution, adopted in 1791, is one that relates to the freedom of the press. It reads: "Congress shall make no law respecting the establishment of religion, or the prohibition of the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble and to petition the government for a redress of grievances." The very wording of this amendment places freedom of the press on the same level, and of equal import with freedom of religion, of speech and of assembly.

A Rhode Island State provision sums up the question of a free press in a few words when it says: "The liberty of the press being essential to the security and freedom of the state, any person may publish his sentiments on any subject, being responsible for the abuse of that liberty, and in all trials for libel, both civil and criminal, the truth, unless published from malicious motives, shall be sufficient defense to the person charged." Many other democratic countries have passed similar legislation, because from a wide study of the dangers of a subservient press, they have learned that a free press is the best assurance of a free country.

To be fully comprehended, the freedom of the press must be accepted by democratic peoples as a typical example of the privileges they enjoy as individuals in a democratic state. To abolish the freedom of the press, is to invite the abolition of all freedom for the individual.

Knights of Columbus Build Two New Army Huts At Edmonton

Two new Canadian Army Huts are being built in Edmonton by the Knights of Columbus, one of the organizations which participated in the recently completed national drive for funds. First will be at No. 16 Elementary Flying school and the second at No. 2 Air Observer school. Frank W. Coffey, science teacher at St. Joseph's High school has been named supervisor of the first. For 10 years active in youth and social welfare work, Mr. Coffey was formerly recreational supervisor for 2,000 single employees of Hawaii sugar plantation. These huts will fill a long need, since airmen have had no such facilities there.

WEDDINGS

BALLOCH — KYLE

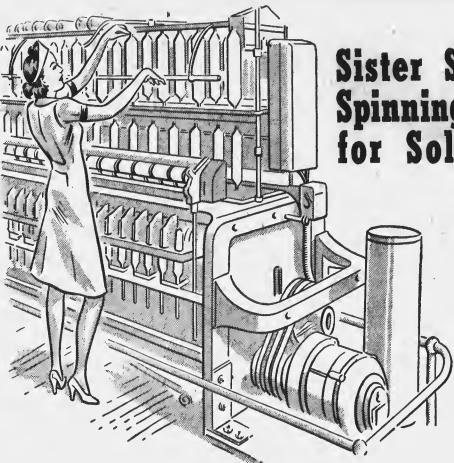

A quiet wedding was held in the United church manse on Saturday evening when Mary, eldest daughter of Mr. D. C. Kyle and the late Mrs. Kyle, of Hillcrest, became the bride of Alex Balloch, elder son of Mr. John Balloch. Attendants were Miss Janet Kyle and Mr. Jim Kyle, sister and brother of the bride. Rev. J. E. Kirk conducted the ceremony.

Following the ceremony the bridal party motored to Hillcrest where the reception was held at the home of the bride's father, covers being laid for forty-two invited guests.

The bridal couple have taken up residence on Second street east.

Roman Youschuk Stationed at St. Thomas; Kiddies Cheer Queen When She Appears on Screen.

A letter was received this week from David Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. Smith, who is stationed at St. Thomas. David is in the R. C. A. F. as a mechanic but hopes soon to train as a pilot.

His Letter reads: "Well it is nearly two months since I left home and I like this life more and more as each day passes.

I surely appreciate you sending The Journal to me as any letters or news from home are sure looked forward to.

Roman Youschuk is here and as soon as I'm finished he reads it and then the other boys take their turns.

Not much out of the ordinary happens here but I must tell you of an experience I had in London. It was at a matinee and the theatre was crowded with children, the majority being under ten years of age. A news reel was showing and in one scene the queen appeared and you should have heard those kids cheer and clap. Even at night the adults at the shows at home never show half that much enthusiasm — yours sincerely, David Smith."

George Evans And W. S. Vollendorf Now In Old Country

Word Received at Legion Club: Ask to be Remembered To All.

Two letters were received at the Legion club from George Evans and W. S. Vollendorf stating they were about to embark for overseas. They should now be in Britain. Here are their letters:

"Dear Archie—Just a line to let you know that everything is fine so far and we are about to embark for the Old Country. I am enclosing my forwarding address and would you please give it to Mrs. George Evans. Vollendorf and myself are in the same company. Give my best wishes to all. Yours truly, George Evans."

"Dear Sir—At time of writing we are just about to leave for overseas and I would like you to put a piece in The Coleman Journal to that effect. Remember me to all. Pie. W. S. Vollendorf."

FAMOUS BUTCHART GARDENS AT VICTORIA WILL REMAIN OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

I looks like another big tourist year insofar as the Pacific Coast is concerned, and a most welcome piece of news to offer the tourists is that the world famous Butchart's gardens will remain open to the public," stated George McNicholl, General Passenger Agent, Canadian National Railways here. Some time ago it was announced that owing to ill health Mr. and Mrs. Butchart had been forced to shed the responsibility of looking after the famous gardens.

These gardens have an International reputation and are a great magnet to tourists from all over the world. For the past 35 years the gardens have been maintained by Mr. Butchart and thrown open to the public. This public spirit has been one of the finest tourist attractions the Pacific Coast has had.

Arrangements have just been concluded whereby the gardens will be maintained and a modest fee will be charged for admission the money going to a fund to look after wages, etc., throughout the year as quite a large staff of gardeners is necessary. The announcement that the gardens will remain open will be immensely popular with the travelling public.

He and Robert Jenkins Still Together; Asks Journal be Sent Weekly.

The Journal is in receipt of a letter from Gunner Joe Gate, son of Mrs. Harry Gate. It reads:

"Dear Sir: Have just read a few of your papers the last of which was dated January 23 and have read all the Coleman news. Coleman news is very welcome here.

"Cub" Robert Jenkins and myself are the only two here from Coleman. He received the papers from home. Both read them.

We are in the Canadian Royal Artillery and you put a note in your paper about us home on leave for two days . . . our first and last leave in Canada. Both were glad to see our names in the paper, Dec. 12 issue.

We are not "privates" in the artillery. They call us "gunners."

Hope all are well and our Coleman Miners come out on top of the league. Give my regards to all. Hope to be able to get your paper sent over as I would like to read it and keep in touch with the Coleman news.

Sorry to hear about Jim Fraser.

Well must close, going out on the square—yours truly, Joseph Gate."

Dan McNaughton

Naughton was dead. Dr. Rose went to the shack in company with Coroner A. Webster and Constable Antle. They forced the locked door of the shack and confirmed Siska's fears that McNaughton was dead. The R.C.M.P. were notified.

Crows Nest Undertaking Parlours took charge of the body following its release by the police. A wire was sent to Mrs. McNaughton at Vancouver for burial instructions. The body was shipped to Vancouver Saturday evening.

Deceased had come from Michel to Coleman several years ago and had peddled clothing. A year ago when age made him too feeble to carry two heavy grips carrying his samples he bought an old Essex car and had been using this daily in his trips through Pass towns.

"Boon Town" featuring some of the screen's top most actors and actresses. Gable, Tracy, Colbert, Lamar and a strong supporting cast. It is a story of the oil fields, where men are broke one day and millionaires the next. Full of rugged action and superb acting.

On Tuesday and Wednesday George Raft and Ann Sheridan share the starring roles of "They Drive by Night."

At Cole's theatre at the weekend the feature attraction will be "When the Dalton's Rode." Starring heroes are Randolph Scott, Kay Francis, Brian Donlevy and George Bancroft. It is a story of the old west which was terrorized by the Dalton bandits. A new page in the history of the West written in the blood and gun-smoke of a lawless age.

All shows start at 8 p.m. weekdays and 7:30 and 9:30 Saturdays.

Every parent has watched with keen interest—first, the "miraculous survival"—and later the development and growth of the five pretty tots now world famous as the Dionne Quintuplets.

Speculation about their future is furnishing at this very moment, an interesting topic for discussion among parents everywhere. But of this much, ALL can be certain—in the future, as in the past, the training and education of the Quintuplets will command the highest science and education can offer in man and better METHODS OF TEACHING.

Little Warren, aged four, had been invited to an open house for pre-school children. Upon his return home he was asked how he had enjoyed the occasion. "It wasn't open house at all," he said in a very disgusted tone of voice. "Everything was closed—not even the door was open."

Bill Introduced to Require
Patriotic Exercises and Saluting the Flag

A bill amending the school act provides authority for school boards to require the performance of patriotic exercises in Alberta schools and making any pupil who refuses or neglects to take part in such exercises guilty of an offence against the School Act, a bill amending the act is before the legislature.

Patriotic exercise is defined as "any act, performance or entertainment, program of exercise whether participated in by pupils or not which is designated to instruct the pupils in the principles of patriotism, and without limiting the generality of the foregoing, it shall include any or all of the following: readings, recitations, songs, tableaux, drills, pageants, flag salutes and addresses."

The bill sets down the following manner for saluting the flag where the saluting is directed by the board:

"The teacher and the pupils shall stand facing the flag and the senior pupil or any other pupils who may be designated by the teacher for this purpose, the teacher and the pupils shall come to attention while the teacher, senior pupil, or other designated pupil salutes the flag."

Ring every Sunday, in Canada

"In many lands this year bells are silent—all are dimmed . . ."

RT. HON. W. L. MACKENZIE KING.

It is your privilege to attend the church of your choice . . . to worship as your conscience wills.

A Nazi world means the end of the church too—it means compulsion to accept a form of worship prescribed by political dictators.

In the words of the Prime Minister, "When we speak of the preservation of democracy, of Christianity and of civilization, we use no idle words . . . the existence of all three is at stake."

Freedom of worship is one of the priceless privileges that all Canadians enjoy.

War Victims' Fund

Toronto Evening Telegram's Fund Has Now Passed Half Million Dollars

Just as a thermometer rises steadily and surely in the increasing warmth of the morning sun, so does The Toronto Evening Telegram British War Victims' Fund steadily rise in the warmth of human sympathy for overseas victims of Hun frightfulness.

From the original $10 "stake" that saw the birth of the plan, the fund has now passed the half million dollar mark. And from an initial donation of $20 on September 11, the fund has grown until the daily average of contributions has reached $4,726.

Half a million dollars is a lot of money. But one night's raid, indeed one bomb, can do more than half a million dollars' damage.

This half-million dollars constitutes the largest newspaper fund in the history of Canadian journalism. It started 171 publishing days ago with a donation of $20 from Ald. John Innes and his friends.

The fund "passed the Rubicon" March 31, with 200 odd contributions, amounting to $5,545.48, to rocket the grand total of $502,744.16. The largest day's total this year permitted the fund to wind up March with the largest daily average of contributions in its history—$4,726 per day.

Simultaneously with the fund passing the $500,000 mark another 8,000 pounds sterling was cabled overseas. This, the 28th remittance, swelled to £110,000 the amount sent to the Lord Mayor's National Air Raid Distress Fund, the central agency designated by Prime Minister Winston Churchill to minister to bomb victims in England, Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland.

Here is a letter from Sir George Wilkinson, Lord Mayor of London, to thank the fund for a recent installment of 8,000 pounds:

"Nothing is more wonderful than the way your readers have rallied to the British people in their hour of need. The indefatigable efforts made by your readers, their unflagging loyalty and devotion will always stand as a shining example of the wholehearted co-operation of the British Empire."

"It is impossible for me adequately to express my gratitude for their overwhelming generosity. I am particularly grateful to your profound sympathy for the brave people in this country who have lost their homes, but also to the desire to see the triumph of right over wrong, of civilization over barbarism, and of freedom over despotism."

"In conveying to you my thanks, and to all your readers, will you please inform them that, though many of their homes be lost, and many of their historic and treasured buildings battered, the spirit of the British people remains resolute and unconquerable, and their will to win through to final victory indomitable."

France's Loneliest Man

Former President Lebrun Never Goes Very Far From Home

Pacing every day up and down the grounds of the beautiful chateau he refuses to accept as a gift is "France's loneliest man"—former President Albert F. Lebrun. He and his wife have been living since last July within a stone's throw of the chateau at the home of his son-in-law and grand-children outside the village of Vizille.

Although completely at liberty, Lebrun seldom leaves his immediate neighborhood of his home. Occasionally he strolls into the village, but only rarely is he seen in the nearby town of Grenoble. Villagers who pass him near his house lift their hats and murmur respectfully: "Good day, Monsieur Le President." But this is the only homage he receives from his compatriots. Otherwise the third republic's only president to be re-elected after serving a full term receives no attention except occasional attacks in the extremist press because he did not displease Parliament.

HOME SERVICE

MONEY DOESN'T LEAK AWAY WHEN YOU GO ON A BUDGET

"Planned Spending" Helps You

When, where did those dollars leak out? There just isn't enough money left to get that rug you wanted—and the gas bill must wait until next month.

A budget is what you need. On payday set aside about one-fifth of the money for rent, other portions for clothes, health and so on—and some for "foolishness!" Then your spending's proof against the frinting which is so costly and unsatisfactory, too.

You're tempted by a cute bargain hat? Buy it if it's worth the foolishness you've allowed for. But as clothes? Will there just be that much less for your clothes fund, for the smart things which are so costly and unsatisfactory, too?

So simply your budget solves such financial puzzles. And with buying tips you can make your money stretch. You can save $50 to $100 a year on food by buying canned goods instead of fresh fish once in a while instead of meat.

Instead of being deprived of things you want, you find enough money left after bills are paid to start planning for your heart's desire.

Our 32-page booklet starts you off with practical spending plan, easy ways to cut your income and needs. Mais buying pointers, budget blanks for a year's entries.

Send 15 cents in coins for your copy of "How to Budget and Buy for Better Living" to Home Service Bureau, Winnipeg Newspaper Union, Man.

Grade Crossing Accidents

Heavy Toll Of Life In Canada, Mainly Through Carelessness

During the past year, 123 persons were killed and 485 were injured in 346 railway grade crossing accidents in Canada.

Sixty-eight of these accidents, taking the lives of 43 persons in the aggregate, occurred at crossings where protective safety devices were in operation.

More than half of the total accidents took place in broad daylight, under good visibility conditions.

One hundred and one accidents were caused, not by a train striking an automobile or truck, but, incredible as it may seem, by motorists running into the side of the train.

Carelessness on the part of the motoring public is largely responsible for this appalling toll of death on Canada's railway crossings. The urge to hurry, to take a chance, to plunge ahead without a thought for elementary safety precautions, comes high in what is often a losing race with death.

Commencing with this issue in collaboration with the engineering department of the Canadian Pacific Railway, we will publish a graphic series of photographs and diagrams illustrating the cost of carelessness, in an attempt to lessen the toll of tragic and unnecessary accidents.

Donations Pouring In

Millions Of Pounds Swell Fund For Purchase Of Spitfires

The following story by William Mundt appeared in the Overseas Daily Mail:

I have just been to the Ministry of Aircraft Production. I have never been among so much money in my life. Every morning of every day there descend at the Ministry several hundred letters, each with a donation for the Spitfire Fund.

And not only letters.

The other day an old woman climbed slowly up the steps of the Ministry, opened her shabby handbag, and handed over 25 £1 notes. She refused her name. "For the R.A.F." she said simply, and trotted off into the street.

Money for Spitfires pours in from all over the world. After an hour spent in the Ministry of Aircraft Production, wading through hundreds of letters enclosing gifts, I began to feel dizzy. Already the Spitfire Fund has reached the ten million mark. Sums of £10,000 are commonplace. £50 is a bagatelle.

I was amazed to read letters which began and ended quite simply: "Enclose £20,000 for Spitfires;" or, "Our client instructs us to transfer 500,000 dollars to the Spitfire Fund. Yours faithfully, etc." A few thoughts did not seem to matter.

From the four corners of the earth the gifts come . . . foreign holdings in diamond mines, railways, ranches, oil wells, salmon fisheries, sheep runs, and goldmines owned by every nationality under the sun.

The gifts from children—of sums from sixpence upwards—are too numerous to detail. The sale of lavender bags, kettle-holders, and foreign stamps provides a lot of these contributions.

Jewelry, silver plate, family heirlooms, engagement rings, and sentimental treasures are handed in. A man in Uruguay cabled £10,000 and promised £1,000 each month. "He keeps it up, too," an official at the Ministry told me.

I picked the following haphazard: . . . A Cairo group send £23,000. A sheep farm in the Falkland Islands sends £60. Mayors of South Africa send £25,000 and "more coming." Burna sends £160,000. Basutoland £150,000, and another £100,000 from the Nizam of Hyderabad. The people of Gorakhpur £15,000.

I tried to reckon up the total from India, but gave it up—my head reeled.

The men of the Services themselves forward donations.

H.M.S.—Mess No. 9 posted 16s. 8d. With it was this note: "We charge 1d. a time for swearing. We feel certain that further instalments will follow this."

John Bishop, of Newmain, Lanarkshire, sent 10s. This is my first old-age pension. I have worked 53 years in the mines. I served in the old Volunteers in the Boer War, also in France during the last year. I am now in the Home Guard, and feel sure that I will give a good account of myself if Hitler or any others of his gang go to try me out."

EMBROIDERY MAY ENRICH DRESS

By Anne Adams

Simple, well-fitting lines enriched by lively, skillful embroidery—this is the fashion success recipe for a graciously mature lady. Pattern 4634 by Anne Adams gives you just that! See how easily the skirt is planned, with double panels at the front and to the back; the bodice is simple, too, soft and becoming, with darts at both the waist and shoulders to insure perfect fit. You may use the loveliest of tulip embroidery to lighten the self-fabric or contrasting collar and panels. The blouse is in an easy-to-make pattern, with directions for their simple making right in the Sewing Instructor. A three-quarter-length sleeve version is included in this most flattering of styles.

Pattern 4633 is available in widths sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 takes 3½ yards 35 inch fabric and ½ yard contrast.

Send twenty cents (20c) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly Name, Size, Address and city and state in order to the Anne Adams Pattern Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermot Ave. E., Winnipeg.

England's Small Towns

If it weren't for the soldiers on the streets and the one lump of sugar for your coffee it would be hard to realize a war was on when you visit the many of England's small cities and towns which have never known the crunch of a bomb, writes Ernie Pyle. In the provinces, policemen still wear the famous fore-and-aft hats, instead of steel helmets.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

APRIL 13

CHRIST SHOWS HIMSELF ALIVE

Golden text: "I was dead, and behold, I am alive for evermore. Revelation 1:18.

Lesson: Luke 24:1-43.

Devotional reading: Revelation 1:12-18.

Explanations and Comments

On the Way to Emmaus, Luke 24:13-27. On the day of the resurrection two of Christ's followers (not of the Twelve) were on their way to the village of Emmaus, sixty furlongs, or seven miles, east of Jerusalem. Their eyes were downcast; their hearts burdened with sorrow, as they discussed the events of the last three days. Then Jesus appeared and joined them in their walk.

The two did not recognize Jesus, for he had changed his appearance. The archaic form of "booth" (booth) was used, "abide with us," they begged; "for it is toward evening and the day is far spent." At first, in naming their relationship, they had not even recognized Guest because his host as offered the customary grace and then broke the bread and gave it to them. In the breaking of the bread their eyes were suddenly opened and they knew him.

At Emmaus, Luke 24:28-32. Jesus "made as though" he would continue on but the two urged him to stay, for he would have gone on had they not earnestly urged him to tarry. What they had heard made them loth to part with him. "Abide with us," they begged; "for it is toward evening and the day is far spent." At first, in naming their relationship, they had not even recognized Guest because his host as offered the customary grace and then broke the bread.

The Report to the Disciples, Luke 24:33-35. The two hastened that very hour to Jerusalem and found the 11 disciples and others lost in amazement over the good news they had heard, that "the Lord is risen indeed and hath appeared to Simon."

Now comes the two told what had happened on the way to Emmaus and how they had recognized Christ as he supper and broke the bread.

Warning Has Been Issued

Postal Regulations Prohibit Sending Inflammable Substances Through Mails

A stern warning against enclosing matches, cigarette lighter fluid or other inflammable substances in the mails has been issued by Dominion postal authorities at Ottawa.

The warning points out that it is contrary to the postal regulations for any person to post for delivery any inflammable, explosive, dangerous or destructive substance or liquid, through the mails and the person doing so is liable to prosecution.

The warning is particularly directed against those persons who have been sending matches and lighter fluid in parcels for troops overseas. Postal officials say instances have occurred of these parcels igniting. If this were to occur aboard ship and the ship were to be destroyed, it would constitute a valuable stroke of work for the enemy.

Polish soldiers interned in Romania after the fall of Poland have been taken to Germany for forced labor. So base an act will be remembered in the final reckoning that puppet state of Hitler's.

Free French officers say the Messerschmitt 110, crack Nazi fighter, was designed from plans writer in Audubon Magazine few made for the French Potez built two years before the Messerschmitt.

In the kitchen garden, at the door, it is advisable of course to keep a plentiful supply of salad material like leaf and head lettuce, onions and potato, celery. The latter is set out in the garden as well started plants usually after all danger of frost is over.

For vegetable rows, there are small cultivators pushed by hand which will cultivate a plot 100 by 50 in well under an hour and these can be bought in larger size for horse or tractor.

If a supply of cut flowers is wanted for the table, blooms with long stems that will well in water, horticultural authorities urge, the planting of sweet peas, snapdragons, cornflowers, marigolds, petunias, geraniums, salvias, asters, single and double verbenas and salpiglossis. If preferred these can be grown in rows in the vegetable garden.

Have Splendid Record

Fliers From East India Account For Many Nazi Machines

East Indian air squadrons are playing "conspicuous roles" in the Battle of Britain, the British Broadcasting Corporation reported. The BBC said the airmen, now taking part in operations against northern France, fly Spitfires purchased from contributions to the East India fund. One squadron already has shot down more than 100 enemy aircraft.

Winston Churchill himself built the brick wall which surrounds his home, Chartwell, in Kent.

A VANISHING PROFESSION

There are two major programmes to defend health; the one is preventive; the other curative. "Together," says Hygeia, "they are doing remarkable things." Anything that can be done to improve any part of these programmes so much the better. For a long period, at least for 400 years, in the British world, the apothecary or pharmacist has been an important element in the curative process.

The term "pharmacy" comes from the Greek word "pharmakon," meaning drug or remedy. The business of the pharmacist, apothecary or druggist is concerned with dispensing medicine. The apothecary, as he was called in England, was during the time of Henry VIII., one of the three roots of medicine, the others being the ecclesiastic and the barber.

The apothecary first was sort of grocer. He sold drugs, groceries and other articles in household use. Then he became one of the branches of medicine just as the ecclesiastic (the priest) became a doctor and the barber became a surgeon.

Now alas: the pharmacist is in the way of again becoming a sort of grocer. He no longer confines his business to the selling or dispensing of drugs and medical and surgical necessities. As a profession the pharmacist is vanishing.

A drug store, these days sells everything from drugs (its least concern) to hot and cold drinks, merchandise and nearly everything except plumbing. A few alive to the old traditions of the profession, confine themselves to the filling of prescriptions and research into the uses of drugs. They desire, and not without hope, to revive the former interest in real pharmacy. They should be encouraged. Universities have extended the course of training to four years instead of a few months.

Gardening

Shrubs, trees and perennial flowers have a feed habit of taking up more room when growing than the average gardener anticipated. Generally speaking, when setting out such things, allow half as much space between, and away from fences or walls, as the natural height for these plants in the case of shrubs, the Van Houtte, which reaches a full height of from six to eight feet in most parts of Canada, should be planted from three to four feet apart or the same distance from walk, wall or fence, for decorative effect. For a hedge, however, it may be planted closer.

Again the common peony which grows to a height of two and a half feet when full grown, should have about 18 inches between plants.

It is impossible to over-emphasize the importance of good seed. Other factors may be beyond control but the gardener has a simple check over his seed—whether it is good or not. Whether the seed and location may be ideal, but without good seed specially selected to suit Canadian conditions, the garden is going to be a failure.

Have Vegetables Handy

In the kitchen garden, at the door, it is advisable of course to keep a plentiful supply of salad material like leaf and head lettuce, onions and potato, celery. The latter is set out in the garden as well started plants usually after all danger of frost is over.

For vegetable rows, there are small cultivators pushed by hand which will cultivate a plot 100 by 50 in well under an hour and these can be bought in larger size for horse or tractor.

If a supply of cut flowers is wanted for the table, blooms with long stems that will well in water, horticultural authorities urge, the planting of sweet peas, snapdragons, cornflowers, marigolds, petunias, salvias, asters, single and double verbenas and salpiglossis. If preferred these can be grown in rows in the vegetable garden.

HERE'S HOW TO CORRECT CONSTIPATION WITHOUT DOSING!

If you have suffered from constipation, you probably know from experience that harsh purgatives give, at best, only temporary relief.

That's why doctors will tell you to get out the nose. If your constipation is due to constipation due to lack of the right kind of "bulk," try KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN...

a truly delicious cereal that can help to keep you regular by supplying the "bulk" you need.

EAT ALL-BRAN every morning... drink plenty of water... and see if you don't notice a big difference the way you look and feel! Available at grocers' in two convenient sizes. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

DAUGHTER OF DESTINY

"A great pleasure, Senorita Rae-bourne." His smile was a white ivory flax in his swarthy face, and his eyes—

Devona didn't quite know what to think about his eyes. She felt herself flushing uncomfortably under their bold search.

"You must bring the Senorita in the evening, my friend," he went on. "Then we have the music and dancing and singing. This is siesta time." He shrugged eloquently.

"Some time—maybe," Dale murmured, not too enthusiastically. "And now, if I'll excuse me a moment, Devona, I'll wind up my business and we'll be on our way."

"Certainly," Devona, smiling, watched the two men across the huge, nearly deserted dining room, enter a dark doorway. "The Private—Manager."

Strange that Dale should have "business" with one like Señor Macias, she mused, idly, watching the waiters in Mexican costume who lounged against the iron railing of the imitation patio. There was something so—romantic, so storybook about this place. She said that to Dale when, a little later, he knew her into the blue couple again.

"Romantic!" He laughed. "Depends on what kind of storybooks you like! This one wouldn't be healthy reading for a sweet kid like you."

"I'm—going on 19," she said a little stiffly.

"Maybe," Dale grinned. "But you're not going on any slumming parties—not yet! You leave that to the movie stars and the idle rich."

"But Señor Macias looks as if he might be a movie star himself," she objected, still a little piqued. "And I'm sure he'd be offended if you knew you called his elaborate club—slums."

Dale laughed, a hearty, deep-throated sound. Then: "You're right there. And Macias is handsome. No denying that. The girls go for that sort of daredevil gallantry of his. And most of them get their poor little hearts broken for their trouble."

"Why? Is Señor Macias a woman hater?"

"Far from it. He loves them and leaves them. Any pretty new face, and it's off with the old and on with the new. Some day that boy is going to wake up with a knife in his back."

"Mercy!" Devona gasped. "How melodramatic!"

"Nothing melodramatic about the money that fellow makes," Dale went on. "He's a smart business man. Plays up that Mexican stuff for all it's worth. It's a break for me, at that."

"How?"

"In the D.A.'s office. Just a punk assistant; but I'm working with the boss on some special stuff right now. Jose helps me meet the 'right people.'" He cocked an eyebrow. "Toss knows everybody, and sooner or later everybody turns up at El Mexicano."

LOOK OUT FOR YOUR LIVER

and feel like a million!

Your liver is the largest organ in your body and most important to your health. It pours out bile to digest food, gets rid of waste, supplies new energy, helps proper nourishment to each cell in your body. When your liver is not working properly, you feel "tired"—headache, body aches, dizzy, dragged out all the time.

For over 20 years there has been no better relief from liver troubles than FRUIT-A-TIVES. So can you now. Try FRUIT-A-TIVES—just a simple delight how quickly you'll feel like a new person, happy and well again. 25¢, 50¢.

The great Spanish hacienda at the end of the palm-lined drive blazed with lights. For a minute, as Dale stopped the car in the curving gravelled drive, Devona saw the whole picture wash together in a blur of tears. Home! she whispered past the lump in her throat. Beautiful, spacious, hospitable past anything she'd dared dream. In another moment she'd step through that wide doorway and for the first time in 14 years, she would be—home.

A Chinese house-boy opened the door, helped her out.

"Hello, Wong," Dale greeted him.

This is Miss Raebourne, Miss Vadine's daughter."

The boy bowed a bow at her. Welcome, Miss Raebourne," he said with an astonishingly British accent.

"Miss Vadine has not yet returned.

May I show you to your room?"

"Thank you," Devona responded a little shudder. He was so terribly homely and so different from the friendly smiling Chinese cooler she'd seen in Shanghai. Behind the somewhat hostile Oriental mask of his face.

His voice perhaps. Of that undoubtedly British accent. It was silly—but she loathed him, instantly.

"When do you expect Miss Vadine?"

Dale asked as they crossed the wide veranda.

"Any moment, sir. She expected to be here when Miss Raebourne arrived."

Devona felt a little of her disappointment dissolve. At least her mother had intended, had wanted to be here to welcome her. Some interruption, some unavoidable delay made it impossible.

"Don't mind," Dale, smiling as if he'd read her thought, took her hand. "Vera's always late. Wong will show you upstairs. Dinner's never until 8:30 anyway. You'll have plenty of time to change."

"You're staying, too, aren't you?"

—suddenly panicky at the thought of being alone? a stranger in a strange house with only a malevolent-looking Chinese servant! Dale already seemed an old friend.

"Sure." He grinned at her, blue eyes teasing again. "Not scared, are you? A world traveller and—"

"No, of course not." She managed a smile and started up the stately stairway after Wong. "See you later."

"Don't make it much later," Dale called after her. "I'll be waiting for you in the patio."

Flushing, Devona ran the remainder of the way. Dale was so nice. Surely some girl must already have discovered that. American men were different from Europeans. Different. Lots of differences.

Staggering Quantities Of Relief Clothing Sent To Bomb Stricken Britain

Count Edward R. Raczyński, Polish ambassador in London, has sent the Canadian Red Cross Society an expression of gratitude for the help given by the Society overseas in supplying woolen comforts and hospital supplies to the Polish hospital and Polish troops in England. Count Raczyński's message delivered to Major C. A. Scott, Overseas commissioner, says: "It is with very deep gratitude that I learn of this generous assistance and I am certain that our people will be greatly indebted to the Canadian Red Cross Society for such kindness. May I ask you to convey on behalf of my fellow countrymen and myself our very warm thanks to the Canadian Red Cross Society for their most benevolent action."

In the past 70 days, the Red Cross in England has released staggering quantities of woolen comforts, relief clothing and surgical supplies that the Overseas office has stated that further shipments "in as large quantities as possible" will be urgently required. To refugee committees alone, including the Polish, and the Women's Voluntary Services have been given since January 376,055 woolen comforts and 225,666 articles of relief clothing. Blankets, quilts and relief clothing are needed immediately. To date the Canadian Red Cross has devoted two million dollars to the relief of bomb victims in England.

Flushing, Devona ran the remainder of the way. Dale was so nice. Surely some girl must already have discovered that. American men were different from Europeans. Different. Lots of differences.

Only one side of the moon is ever visible since it rotates at almost the same speed as the earth.

Will Not Relinquish Task

English-Speaking Democracies Determined to Secure Freedom For World

A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, said at a war weapons week inaugural he did not believe the combined strength of the English-speaking democracies can be defeated or ultimately robbed of complete victory.

"I do not believe, great and hideous as may be the task which lies before us and heavy though the tribulation through which we must pass will be, that the two great English-speaking democracies—the British Commonwealth and the United States of America—will ever relinquish the task until freedom is secured."

"Make no mistake: if we are defeated we should perish. Let no one think that any compromise or peace terms would be possible with Hitler in such a case."

"We are not seeking dictatorship, nor the acquisition of territory. We seek freedom, the quiet way of life, and means to exchange the products of labor un molested. That must apply not only to the English-speaking democracies but to all the peoples of the world. We must not therefore be vainglorious or selfish in our war effort or our peacemaking."

Mr. Harry Gifford, jr., of Summerview, was the week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dibblee.

The three Gilnas children are spending the Easter holidays with their parents here, their mother having gone to Calgary to meet them coming from the convent at Castor.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Stone, of Rockyford, Alberta, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Rippon on Tuesday evening. On Wednesday morning Mr. and Mrs. Stone, their son, R. L. Stone, ledger keeper at the local bank, and Mrs. W. L. Rippon left by car for ten days vacation at the Pacific coast.

in Toronto.

Lieutenant Tamagi will be remaining in Coleman for two or three weeks to assist in the local work, and will be leading all meetings during that time.

RECEIVED TAG OFF WRECKED NAZI BOMBER

Dorothy Furlong, of the Grand Union Coffee shop, is in receipt of a small metal tag taken from a wrecked Nazi bomber. She received it from a young man formerly of Picture Butte and now serving with the Canadian forces in Britain.

The tag measures 1" x 1 1/2" and is black with a silver border. On it are inscribed the words OBU Handpumpe, Gerät-Nr 8-4535B, Werk-Nr 7064, Deutsche Benzinhu-then Berlin.

ARMY LEADERS TO VISIT COLEMAN

A special Good Friday service will be held in the Salvation Army hall at 8.00 p.m. This will be conducted by Brigadier L. Ursaki, Divisional Commander for the Salvation Army in Alberta.

Accompanying him (and assisting in the meeting) will be Mrs.
Ursaki, and their son, Kenneth, also Lieutenant W. Tamagi from Oils.

Appropriate lantern slides will be shown, Lieut. Tamagi will sing, and the junior choir will also take part.

Easter Sunday meetings at 11
a.m. and 7.30 p.m. will be conducted by Lieutenant Tamagi. The Lieutenant is well known as a vocal soloist, and is a proficient player on the guitar. This will be his first visit here since graduating from the S. A. training college
